

Thomas Gutteridge, Mason Contractor

Thomas Gutteridge came to Gaylord 9 years ago from Grand Rapids and since then has been busily engaged in putting the town on a solid foundation, he being a contracting mason. During his residence here he has put in substantial foundations for many business blocks and private residences and barns about town and country. He is owner of a fine home on east Main Street, shown elsewhere in this issue; also another house and lot and a farm a short distance from town. His skill as a mechanic is of the highest order, and he is one of Gaylord's highly respected citizens.
